

BITTER FIGHT OVER LEAGUE OF NATIONS

IRRECONCILABLES THREATEN TO LEAVE PARTY UNLESS IT DECLARES AGAINST THE VERSAILLES PACT

ULTIMATUM DELIVERED IN DRAMATIC FASHION AT PARLEY OF LEADERS

BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, June 10.—The special sub-committee of the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention adjourned soon after 1 o'clock this (Thursday) morning without having reached any agreement on a platform to deal with the league of nations issue. Sessions will be resumed later today.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Republican differences over the league of nations culminated today in an open threat from irreconcilable senators to leave the party unless it declared flatly against the league of nations.

The ultimatum was delivered in dramatic fashion at conference of leaders. It put the league issue suddenly to the fore of all other questions before the national convention, not excepting even the nomination of a presidential candidate. Senators Borah of Idaho, Brandegee of Connecticut, and McCormick of Illinois, represented the irreconcilables at the conference and former Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, in past conventions a national leader, spoke for the group demanding a plank for a league with reservations. Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the convention's resolutions committee, who was present to represent the party organization, took the role of peacemaker.

Tonight the leaders were only half heartedly attempting to conceal their apprehensions over the situation. Most of them grimly predicted an agreement, but none appeared too sure of his ground. In a session which promised to last thru the night a resolutions sub-committee, headed by Senator Watson, sought to find a middle course which would hold the party together.

Senator Crane, coming unexpectedly into the swim of convention affairs after several days of quiet conferences, prefaced the irreconcilable ultimatum by laying on the council table a proposal that the party declare affirmatively for ratification for a league of nations covenant with safeguarding reservations. Backed, he said, by the group of mild reservationists, he indicated that unless such a plank were adopted, all the dynamite of the league of nations question would be loosed on the convention floor.

Borah States Terms
The reply of the irreconcilables came at once, phrased in terms which no one misunderstood. With considerable heat Senator Borah told the conference that he and his colleagues never could support any plank declaring affirmatively for any ratification of the treaty, reservations or no reservations. Should the party adopt such a plank they declared they would immediately and finally part company with it.

In a desperate effort to bring harmony, Senator Watson pleaded that the rising animosities of the conference be forgotten and that both sides approach the subject with a determination to avoid repetition of the disastrous break in 1912. But neither side receded and the meeting ended in an atmosphere of solemn defiance.

So it stood tonight as the resolutions sub-committee of thirteen sought to sweat out a solution. In the committee room besides Senator Watson were Senators Borah and McCormick for the irreconcilables, Senator Smoot of Utah and nine men of varying shades of opinion. Outside the committee room, too, there were a series of feverish conferences as each side sought to assess how much of the attitude of its adversary was bluff and how much was genuine.

No Bluff in Threat
The irreconcilable group solemnly assured their party leaders there was not a single element of bluff in their program, and one of them is understood to have declared that should the party stand for any sort of ratification, he would resign from the senate in order to be free to carry on the fight.

What connection Senator Johnson might have with the move was not revealed. Throughout the senate fight he stood shoulder to shoulder with Senator Borah, but talk of a possible Johnson bolt has been discounted by the men who are closest here to the California senator.

Although the resolutions sub-committee had been in session all day, it scarcely touched, until tonight, on the league of nations or any other subject of serious controversy. Although completely overshadowed by the treaty situation, the plank on industrial relations was understood to have caused some difference of opinion.

Convention Snapshots

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Missouri delegation, meeting in special session tonight, voted down, 24 to 11, a motion to rescind the action of Jacob Babler, as national committeeman, because of testimony before the senate investigating committee that he had handled Lowden campaign funds in that state.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Senator Penrose thru his private secretary today issued his first comment on political matters since the Republican convention opened in Chicago. It read: "It is generally understood Senator Penrose is entirely favorable to the aspirations of Governor Sproul and there is no question about his loyalty in this respect. "He, of course, recognizes the weighty considerations of a general character that prevail at the convention at Chicago."

CHICAGO, June 9.—Answering reports that the Michigan delegation would not hold to its instructions to support Senator Johnson to the "finish," Bart D. Cady, chairman of the Republican state committee, informed the senator today that he would have the solid support of the delegation as long as he remained in the race. Members of the Michigan delegation accompanied Mr. Cady to Johnson headquarters, where a formal declaration of solid and continued support was given the senator.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Indiana delegation met tonight to discuss its lineup on the first ballot but, according to Senator New, "got nowhere," while the indications were that Wood would receive 22 and Johnson 8 votes on the first ballot, none of the members attempted to say how it would go thereafter. Some members had expressed the hope that the caucus would develop a common ground where all could meet and stand together. Senator New, however, opposed such a program, declaring he would refuse to be bound by it.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Efforts of the state organization leaders to line up the New York delegation solidly for Nicholas Murray Butler on the first ballot failed today through the expressed determination on the part of eight or ten delegates to vote for General Wood. A conference was held, but little progress was made toward complete unity of action. Another conference will be held probably tomorrow. Senator Wadsworth, chairman, said he had not discovered any pronounced drift toward an "outside" man.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Georgia faction, led by Henry Lincoln Johnson, Atlanta negro and Lowden supporter, who was given his seat in the convention with his delegation, met today and Johnson later announced that he had been elected national committeeman. Roscoe Pickett and some of his followers called a meeting of their own to take up the question of a fight on Johnson's claims.

CHICAGO, June 9.—After several hours work tonight, Senator Watson announced that he did not believe the platform could be finished in time for presentation to the convention before 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Upon convening at 11, Senator Watson said the convention probably would have to determine upon a recess until after noon on other business.

part of the vexatious war legislation which invades the liberties of the citizens that was thwarted by a presidential veto. It enacted the transportation act and made possible the rehabilitation of the railroad systems of the country wrecked by the McAdoo railroad administration.

"Under the act it provided for the peaceful arbitration of wage disputes, which was so nullified by President Wilson's delay in appointing the wage board created under the provisions of the law that he himself precipitated the outflow railroad strike.

"The Republican majority stopped the flood of public treasure recklessly poured into the lap of an inept shipping board and laid the foundations for the creation of a great American merchant marine, to be owned and operated by the private enterprise of American citizens, under the American flag and under the control of the government of the United States. The Republicans in congress took from a wasteful and incompetent Democratic administration the telegraph and telephone lines of the country and returned them to private ownership, which can use them neither for the purpose of political patronage nor political espionage upon the citizens of the country.

"The Republican majority reduced the cost of postage to the people and increased the wage of the driven and underpaid employees of the postal service. Carrying out its purpose to care for the faithful employees of the government the Republican congress enacted a law to provide pensions for supernumerated and retired Civil Servants. It likewise provided for an increase in the pay of sailors and soldiers of the United States and further provided for a re-organization of the army on a peace footing, and for the maintenance of a powerful and efficient navy.

"Recognizing the increased number of women wage earners drawn into industry by the war and by modern social and economic developments the Republican congress established by law for the first time a woman's bureau to aid the states to safeguard the welfare of women in industry, and to raise the standards of their employment. It submitted to the country the constitutional amendment for the enfranchisement of women, while 29 Republican legislatures out of a total of 25 have contributed to the ratification of the amendment. The Republican congress enacted legislation for the relief of the consumers of meat which was vetoed. It provided for an extension of the powers of the government under the food control act and for the enforcement of 13th amendment to the constitution. It broadened the scope of the war risk act for the support of the more gravely injured; it made provision for the dwindling number of aged veterans of the Civil war and made practical the vocational rehabilitation of those injured in the great war, as well as for the vocational rehabilitation of those who have been injured and maimed in industry.

"The Republican majority sought not only to meet the immediate economic needs of the country, but to pave the way for a greater program of social and economic reconstruction when the people shall have charged it with responsibility for the executive as well as for the legislative branch of the government. It passed oil leasing and water power bills to unlock for the public good and thru enterprise long laid up resources of the country.

"As the majority in congress has sought to open the channels of production; so has it sought to check the profligacy of the administration to realize upon the assets of the government, and to husband of revenues derived from taxation.

"The Republican minority in the last congress and the Republican majority in the present congress cut the estimate of expenditure sought by the Wilson administration by over two billion dollars. The Republican majority provided for the disposition of the surplus war material. It enacted a budget law which the president vetoed because he alleged that it withdrew from him something of absolute legislative prerogative. The reserve act was amended to vest in the reserve board and reserve banks a discretion to encourage the production of essentials for the use of common people, to permit banks to lead needed assistance to farmers who have been gravely discriminated against by the present Democratic administration and to facilitate the development of the export trade. New legislation was passed for the incorporation of banking companies to be especially engaged in that business. Finally the house of representatives and the senate each adopted amendments to the rules striking at the obsolete and irresponsible committee system which despite repeated Democratic platform pledges that party had always refused to reform."

Other planks tentatively agreed upon by the sub-committee and which members said were subject only to slight changes, condemn the Wilson administration and charge, that due to mismanagement (Continued on Page Four.)

Minnesota Storm Takes Heavy Toll

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 9.—Seven persons killed, more than 100 injured and property losses that will aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars were the toll taken by the terrific wind and electrical storm that swept northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota last night.

Partial restoration of wire communication today disclosed a slowly mounting death list, and fears were expressed tonight that final reports from sections still isolated might increase the casualties count. The known dead are:

Richard Hoelmer, farmer, and 11-year-old son, Fergus Falls, Minn.

Mrs. R. H. Wilke, 61 years old, Grey Eagle, Minn.

Win Roden, farmer, Gardner, North Dakota.

A. Stenberg, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Mrs. E. Thompson, farmer's wife, Urbana, N. D.

Martin Peterson, of near Oak- kish, Minn.

Mrs. Wilke, who was crushed to death in the collapse of her summer cottage on Birch lake, was the mother of Will Wilke, recently elected president of the National Editorial association, at its convention in Boston.

More than thirty Minnesota counties were more or less seriously affected by the storm, which was felt with diminished intensity in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The property damage is confined to small houses, barns, other out-buildings, livestock and trees.

Near Grey Eagle, twenty-five of the thirty cottages in the summer colony at Birch lake were leveled. In addition to one killed, fifteen persons were injured there, several seriously.

One of the peculiarities of the storm was evidenced in the death of Stenberg at Thief River Falls. The lightning entered his home through the telephone wire and struck Stenberg as he sat in the same room with his wife and five children all of whom were unharmed.

Where the storm was most intense was near Fergus Falls, where less than a year ago a tornado did extensive damage to property and caused the death of more than fifty persons.

HOUSTON REPORTS TREASURY HAS ABOUT BALANCED ITS BUDGET

Large Reduction of Country's Debt Promised During Present Year

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Secretary Houston, writing today to bankers, declared that the completed operations of the treasury for the fiscal year ending with this month, "should show little, if any, deficit, the government having about balanced its budget, current receipts against current disbursements, for the first full fiscal year after the fighting stopped."

"Though the first quarter of the present fiscal year showed a deficit of about $770,000,000," he said, "in the second quarter there was a surplus of over $150,000,000 in the third quarter a surplus of nearly $400,000,000 and the fourth quarter should also show a surplus."

"The total gross debt, which on June 30, 1919, amounted to nearly $25,500,000,000 and on August 31, 1919, amounted to nearly $26,600,000,000, had been reduced on May 31, 1920, to less than $25,000,000,000. The floating debt outstanding, which on June 30, 1919, amounted to over $3,250,000,000 and on August 31, 1919, to nearly $4,000,000,000, had been reduced on May 31, 1920, to less than $2,850,000,000."

"The reduced ordinary and public debt disbursements have made balance in the general fund which has been applied to the reduction of the debt."

The secretary declared that both gross debt and floating debt would be further greatly reduced by the retirement of nearly $1,000,000,000 in treasury certificates due about July 15.

Most of this will be paid out in taxes, but to meet the balance and to provide for current requirements up to July 15, the treasury has decided to offer about $400,000,000 in new certificates, in two series, one bearing interest at six per cent and maturing June 15, 1921, and the other bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest and maturing January 3, 1921.

Discussing the outlook for the coming fiscal year, the secretary said there would be a further reduction of both the gross and floating debts in the first two quarters.

ELEVEN KILLED IN RAIL WRECK
SCHNECFADY, N. Y., June 9.—Eleven persons were killed and 1 injured today when a train of express cars crashed into the rear end of a passenger train which had stopped about two miles from Schneefady today because of engine trouble.

All but one of those killed were asleep in two Pullmans at the rear of the passenger train. Martin Doyle of Albany, engineer of the express train died at his post.

NO CLUE TO JEWEL THIEVES.
East Hampton, N. J., June 9.—Altho all roads leading from the home of Enrico Caruso, opera singer, have been closely guarded since the $500,000 jewel robbery there last night, detectives today expressed belief that the theft was an inside job.

THREE KILLED IN EXPLOSION
Dubuque, Iowa, June 9.—Three persons, Mrs. Charles Thurston, her six months old baby, and Isabel Thurston, met death here early this morning when a gasoline stove exploded in their residence, trapping them in the structure.

WILL LICENSE DRY SALOONS.
Chicago, June 9.—A return to the license system of regulating the dry saloons holding over from the days before prohibition is proposed in an ordinance prepared today by the city council licensing committee. A fee of $200 a year would be collected instead of $1,000 formerly required.

LOS ANGELES PASSES UP SAN FRANCISCO
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Los Angeles now has a population of 575,480, an increase of 256,282, while San Francisco has 508,410 inhabitants. Los Angeles rate of growth was 80.3 per cent compared with San Francisco's rate of 21.9 per cent during the ten years.

Los Angeles may take rank as ninth largest city as a result of the 1920 census. Detroit, ninth city in 1910 with 465,766 and whose 1920 population has not been announced, will have to show an increase of more than 110,000 people to pass Los Angeles' mark. Two Detroit suburbs, Hamtramck and Ecorse, Park, have shown the largest increases of increase in the country thus far announced and indications are that they will maintain ninth rank. That would place Los Angeles in tenth place and San Francisco in eleventh.

WEDNESDAY SESSION OF G.O.P. CONVENTION OF LITTLE INTEREST

Temporary Organization Made Permanent

—Await Report of Resolutions Committee

On Platform—Lowden, Wood and Johnson are Still Hopeful of Outcome—Many

Conferences Held by Different Factions

Thruout Day

CHICAGO, June 9.—Second day proceedings of the Republican national convention, lasting barely an hour and dealing entirely with routine, moved as smoothly and swiftly today as a hoop rolling down hill.

There was a shout of approval from the delegates as they adopted the report of the committee on permanent organization by which Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, was made permanent chairman, which considerably shortened the work and cut out a lot of speech making. The convention gave its presiding officer a big demonstration.

Reports of Credentials Body
The report of the committee on credentials, over which some delegates had expected a fight, was presented and adopted without a flutter, as was the report of the rules committee which gives women representation on the national executive committee.

With no report from the makers of a platform, the crowd was ready to hear a few speeches and called first for Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, veteran of many convention battles. He cheered lustily as Mr. Depew turned his oratorical weapons on President Wilson, and especially when he declared that in the old days when Washington found it necessary to deal at close hand with military powers, he stayed on the job at home and sent the chief justice as his emissary.

There were scattering cries from the floor for other speeches, but Chairman Lodge, to give the convention a sensation, presented Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, of Kansas, the first woman ever accorded the privilege of addressing it. She was thrilled by the warmth of the greeting, and in a brief address pledged the loyal support of millions of women voters to the Republican cause.

Calls for other men high in the ranks of the party, including former Speaker Cannon, who was not present, were ended quickly as the convention adopted Senator Wadsworth's motion to adjourn until tomorrow at eleven o'clock.

While the delegates were assembling in the coliseum today to make Senator Lodge and the remainder of the temporary organization the permanent one, and to hear nothing more exciting than a prayer and a speech by Chauncey M. Depew, the league of nations fight was being carried on in the quiet of a committee room down town, where a dozen men representing the reservationists and the irreconcilables were gathered about a table.

The latter swear they will fight to the last ditch to prevent the Republican party from going before the country with any sort of an endorsement of the league idea, that thus become "the tail to President Wilson's kite," as Senator Johnson puts it. The element opposed to them argues it would be a sorry thing for the party if their views prevailed.

So involved has the fight become and so indefinite are the prospects of its end that the program for the convention tomorrow is upset and thrown into confusion.

Meet at 11 o'clock Today
It meets at 11 o'clock and has nothing further before but to hear the report of the resolutions committee, adopt a platform and nominate candidates. One plan has been proposed to skip that part of the platform until the committee is ready to report, and go ahead with the nominating speeches. Those who propose it maintain it is possible to do so under the rules of today which provided for "unfinished business" at the bottom of the list of procedure. They contend the platform could be considered the unfinished business and the convention could get the nominations out of the way without remaining idle while the resolutions committee fights out the league issue.

The Wood and Lowden people particularly express themselves as unalterably opposed to that plan of procedure.

Knox Boom Revived
It could, of course, be done under a suspension of the rules which would require unanimous consent, but the Wood people say they would object to it. A recess until the resolutions committee comes to some solution seems probable. Meantime, the Knox boom has been revived and during the day it, of all the dark horse booms, seemed to have some new momentum, always taking into consideration the common idea that the convention will turn to the right if Johnson, Lowden and Wood fail to show strength promising a majority soon after the first few ballots.

One story being told in this connection was characterized by Senator Johnson, thru one of his lieutenants, as "absolutely ridiculous" but was much discussed.

The story ran that if no nomination was reported up to the fifth ballot, Senator Johnson would lay his candidacy aside, if the convention would grant to him and Senator Borah unlimited time to discuss the candidacy and pre-convention campaign expenses of Wood and Lowden. The other angle of the story was that Senator Knox would be brought in as a candidate at that juncture. Coupled with the general knowledge of close friendship between Senators Johnson and Knox, and their irreconcilable position together against a league in any form, this story furnished the most interesting gossip of the day, altho it was thrown down by Senator Johnson.

Johnson Lieutenants Confer.
Wood talk, which began running in a stronger tide last night, seemed not to disturb the Johnson managers. A conference of Johnson advisors late today, it was said, decided on a break from Wood for Lowden, for which they hope. Their strategy, it was explained, was to leave the Wood Lowden forces to carry on their own contest and leave the Johnson forces ready to take advantage of any weakness which might develop. Johnson advisors also predict there will be no hurried break of his instructed delegates after they have performed their obligations on the first ballots.

Reports that the Johnson instructed delegates from Michigan were ready to swing to another candidate if he failed in the first few ballots put his managers to work starting back of the fires at home and some of the Michigan delegates were said to be getting telegrams informing them they were expected to stick to the Californian. The senators' advisers said they were confident he could hold his delegates until he released them.

Johnson leaders, too it was said were working to convince the large delegation of eastern business men who have gathered here favoring other candidates that Senator Johnson is not the radical and dangerous man to business interests that he has been represented.

They hope that if they can make a candidate out of this program, it will be easier to bring the old line people to Johnson if Lowden and Wood fail to poll a majority. The Johnson people, too, express indignation at repeatedly published newspaper reports that he will bolt and head a third party if he fails of nomination. He is standing, they say, on his earlier declaration that he is engaged only in a family row which will be ended when the convention chooses a candidate and that he will stand by the convention's decision.

The confusion over tomorrow's program and delay in the platform brings out an array of guesses on how long the convention will take to sit. Governor Allen, of Kansas, who is to nominate General Wood, said today he did not expect the nominating speeches would be reached before Friday and that the balloting would not be started before Saturday. He looked for a protracted session of the resolutions committee.

Wood Nominating Speech First.
It appeared today that the Wood nominating speech would come first. Alabama, alphabetically first in the call for nominations, it was said would yield neither for a nomination of Wood or Lowden, preferring not to show any preference. The next state in the list is Arizona, and as its delegate is favorable to Wood, it is expected to yield to Kansas, so that Governor Allen may make his speech placing General Wood in nomination. Under such an arrangement the convention would get its first (Continued on Page Four.)

Inquiries are frequently made these days about the Morgan county tuberculosis sanitarium. The property was acquired about two years ago and building remodeling has been in progress since that time on a somewhat extensive scale. The public would be interested in a statement from the trustees of the fund indicating the amount of the expenditures and as to the prospects for the early opening of the institution.

The government wheat report indicating a shortage of 160,000-000 bushels by comparison with previous estimates does not give the promise of any reduction in the price of flour or its products. Elevators are already offering $2.65 per bushel for this year's crop and those who study the grain situation believe that $3 will be the price when the grain actually begins to move from the wheat fields to the elevators.

Democratic correspondents at the Republican convention refer to it as an "unbossed, unlied" gathering. It is only a few years ago that the democrats were howling about Republicans as belonging to a boss-ridden organization and now their criticism is directed at the lack of bosses. At any rate, it is fortunate that Republican leaders are not making an effort to please democracy. In fact, criticism from democratic sources is quite helpful and indicates the attitude of the Democratic mind.

A paper company with offices in St. Louis has made 120 per cent on its stock, according to testimony given in a recent senate hearing. If other jobbing and manufacturing companies made similar profits, no great wisdom is needed to prove why spot prices on paper stocks have soared to such unprecedented figures.

THE DELEGATES ARE COMING

There are probably not very many people in Jacksonville who really understand how large a convention is to be entertained here when the Sunday school workers of the state come for three days next week, beginning June 15. Every county in the state will be represented and a conservative estimate of the number of visitors is fixed at 1200.

Committees have been busy for some weeks past in making arrangements but the public as a whole does not realize the size of this convention. Delegates pay their own expenses and undoubtedly next week will be a busy time in Jacksonville.

The worth while suggestion has been made that citizens should decorate their residences and places of business. A movement is also under way to have merchants who carry regular newspaper advertisements use welcome display lines the day that the convention assemblies.

THE BUSINESS OF EDUCATION

At the commencement season each year when men and women graduates of former years come back to visit the old college town, there is a new realization of what educational institutions mean to Jacksonville. Some people look upon education as "high brow" stuff, but it is also a business proposition. The educational institutions of Jacksonville are factories that turn out the finest products in the world—trained young men and young women.

There could be no finer work than this, but putting aside the fineness, these factories put thousands of dollars into circulation in Jacksonville every month of the school year. The instructors spend most of the money here that is paid them in salaries. Then funds which are paid for tuition and board are redistributed to the merchants of Jacksonville, and then in addition there is the money that the students spend directly.

Oh, yes, the schools and colleges are high brow affairs, but at the same time they are industries—they are factories with a distinct monetary value.

A MOOTED QUESTION

It is said that the committee on resolutions at the Republican convention has just about the biggest job. Weeks ago a committee of 171 was assembled to outline a party platform. Something has been done in this regard but several of the important planks are yet to be determined upon.

Attitude on the league of nations is one of the most delicate subjects that the committee must handle. In some quarters there is the effort to suggest that the attitude of those irreconcilably opposed to the league, voices the sentiments of ex-president Roosevelt. But a study of the facts will contradict this idea, for one of the last books that Roosevelt wrote was on "America and the Great War." That was in 1915, and he declared unequivocally his belief that a league of nations would be the only effective way to prevent war.

Rippling Rhymes

A GLAD WORLD

This world's so fine and dandy that life should be a grin; there's always sunshine handy for those who'd wade therein. As cheerful as a colt is, I do my daily toil, there always is a pout for every human boil. I brood not lest disaster of life should ruin make; there is a mustard plaster for every human ache. If life, at any juncture, seems desolate and grim, and hope receives a puncture, then run her on the rim; and laugh at Old Man Sorrow, and bet your Sunday lid that things will run tomorrow well as they ever did. I have the giddy habit of giving grief a slap; if there's a smile I nab it, and paste it on my map. The little tinhorn troubles that drive some men insane, to me are vagrant bubbles, they're empty things and vain. And when full grown afflictions come down in attacks, I look on them as notions that masquerade as facts. I fire them in a hurry, I bid them loon the loops; I say to them, "For worry I do not care three whoops." For joy's the line I trade in, the goods in which I deal; it is the stuff I wade in, to back my daily spiel.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Some Other Commencements

By Ensley Moore

(Member Illinois State Historical Society)

It is an easy guess that most of those who came to the first Commencement, of graduates, of Illinois College, in 1835, came in wagons or on horseback. Some were on foot. It is also a sure guess that none came in steam-cars, trolleys or autos.

But it was a great thing to attend such exercises in the early days, when politics and a very occasional circus, of poor quality even for circuses, were the chief amusements. It is likely that the only other things to attract crowds—say of one hundred or more persons—before 1845 were religious services, camp meetings or notable trials in court.

So the men and women of neighboring villages and country, and even some from St. Louis or St. Charles, Mo., put on their best clothes and hats of bonnets, and came to the entrancing events of Commencement Day at our College. The best clothes were none too good or fresh, and the best hats were fur "stove pipes," or straw; and the best bonnets were likely, only rough straw, be-ribboned, miniature tops of moving wagons of blue or black cloth or silk, and sunbonnets—well starched and held out by jast-board slats.

Joyous Occasions.

But, when other attractions were scarce, there were great opportunities for the pioneer to come to the wonderful town of Jacksonville, to see the learned teachers and hear the eloquent youths, and to be entertained by news or stories of personal experiences in their new land. Good and wide awake people of that day came here to see and to be a part of like Maud Muller, "better things than" they had known.

The best things of that day were little to what we now have, but they were the foundations of what we enjoy today, were laid by good people, whose self sacrifice deserves one lasting gratitude remembrance.

Remember that the Jacksonville Female Academy, the first school here for girls, but no programs of its early "anniversary days" are at hand. And the Methodist Conference Female

AFTER MANY YEARS

Ralph Burbank of Memphis, Tenn., is here for a visit at the homes of C. C. Carter and Scott P. Carter. He is a son of Royal Burbank, an old time resident of Jacksonville, who was for years employed by Samuel Cobb, who owned a paint shop which stood on the site of the Wilson building on West State street, now occupied by Vannier's China shop. The elder Burbank was an uncle of Cyrus Carter, the father of the two Jacksonville men mentioned. When these men were mere boys the Burbank family moved to Tennessee and this is the first time that members of the two families have met for nearly fifty years.

"The One Way Trail."

College was not founded until 1846.

In 1842, The late Rev. John B. Fairbank, D. D., told the writer how his brother's Commencement, 1842, was held in the natural amphitheatre made by the little rounding gulley in College Grove, now the northeast corner of Woodland Place and Mound avenue. The speaker's stand was in the rounded bottom of the depression, and seats were boards, arranged in tiers, on the sides of the gulley. Trees afforded shade, and the plan worked.

The Program, follows. All of those, however, who took part were not graduates on that day:

TRI CLASS REUNION
AT COLONIAL INN

Members of Classes of '99, '00 and '01 in Reunion—Twenty Present—Many Letters Received from Absent Members.

The reunion of the classes of '99, '00 and '01 of Illinois college was held at Colonial Inn Wednesday evening. Twenty members were present.

Since 1904 the members of these three classes have been meeting every two years. Last night between twenty-five and thirty letters were read from absent members. The letters were from almost every state in the union.

John Kearns served as toastmaster following the banquet. No set program was followed but each member was called upon to tell what he had been doing the past two years. Officers were elected as follows:

President—T. W. Beadle.
Vice president—H. J. Capps.
Treasurer—T. V. Hopper.
Secretary—H. D. Dobyns.

Come in and hear the Pathe. We are always glad to play them for you.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS IN PROGRESS

A drive about the city is necessary before one can realize the extent of the work which has been done and is in progress along the unpaved streets. For weeks now Superintendent White and employees in the street department have been busy with the grading and draining of these unpaved streets. As a result, some of the streets which have not had attention in a long time are showing the effects of the good work.

This does not mean that the task is nearly completed, for there are many other streets awaiting the attention of the department. Another important thing in the matter of street work has been in the building of concrete walks at intersections. Wherever a piece of walk has been needed to extend a walk from private property to the curb line, this work has been done. It is also noteworthy that concrete walks are being laid on quite an extensive scale by property owners. The city, of course, has nothing directly to do with this work, but it is all in the line of desirable street improvement.

Pupils of the State School for the Deaf left for their homes yesterday. A large number were passengers on a special train which left at 4 a. m. for East St. Louis. Others left on the regular 6:25 a. m. train for Chicago and there were special groups on other morning trains. The going of several pupils was postponed because of illness. One of them is Martin Carlson of Chicago, who recently underwent an operation for mastoid abscess.

the Springs of Faith and Hope. We are living in time peculiarly favorable for the consummation of this working alliance, the present dark hour of civilization, the church and the college are the two springs of hope and faith. I do not find men making with any great hope these ways to our political parties; the church does not compare with the traditionalism and utility of the business man, and from America has always looked with peculiar confidence, "know that we are coming to." Get into the colleges, however, and you find a different story. Society Meets

The Ladies' Aid of the Literary M. E. church held the June meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Neill Wednesday afternoon. The company present numbered about forty persons, including a number of guests. At the business session there was an election, and the same officers who served the past year were re-elected. There was no formal program, the hours being taken up in pleasant social way. The hostess served delicious refreshments before the guests departed.

The administration is denounced for its failure to reduce the expenses of the government and to turn a peace time economy. The federal reserve act is blamed for many of the evils of war financing and the Esch-Cummings law is endorsed. There will be a recommendation in favor of action looking to the restoration of rail and credit, reasonable hours and proper working conditions and higher wages for men employed in a railway service. The preamble of the platform promises that the "party shall resist all attempts to overthrow the foundations of the government either made in the form of international policy of Democratic station."

Matrimonial

Sheehan-Arenz
Patrick Sheehan of this city and Miss Lola Arenz of Arenzville were united in marriage in Arenzville at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, the ceremony being said by the Rev. Father Dwyer.

They were attended by Miss Marie Arenz, a sister of the bride, and Joseph Sheehan, a brother of the groom. The bride wore a dress of white georgette with white hat and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid's gown was of pink georgette with black hat.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Arenz and is highly esteemed in the community in which she has lived. The groom is a plumber by trade and is a young man who commands the respect of all who know him.

Sauer-Chenoweth
Fred Sauer of Rutland and Miss Gweneth Chenoweth of Versailles were united in marriage at the home of the bride in Versailles at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

They were attended by Miss Bernice Chenoweth, a sister of the bride, and Ernest Sauer, a brother of the groom. The wedding party stood before a bank of flowers while the vows were being said. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations. The bride was attired in a gown of white georgette with bridal veil and carried white roses. The bridesmaid's gown was yellow and organdy.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Ella Chenoweth of Versailles and has always resided there. For several years past she has taught school and has been employed in Morgan county schools. The past year she has been teaching English in the Rutland high school.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sauer of Rutland and is cashier of the Rutland bank and one of the city's best known citizens. After a wedding trip of several weeks at Lake Delavan, Wis., they will be at home after July 15, in Rutland.

MINNETONKA COUNCIL ELECTED OFFICERS

Are Chosen for Ensuing Term—Great Pochontas Was Visitor—Large Delegation from Alsey and from Iona Council.

Minnetonka council No. 97 Degree of Pochontas elected officers at the regular meeting of the council held Wednesday evening. Great Pochontas Smith Sands of Marysville was a visitor and large delegations were present from Alsey and from Iona council of this city.

The Alsey council brought several candidates and the degree conferred the degree of the order. The meeting was in charge of the Past Pochontases of the council. At 6 o'clock supper was served in the hall for visitors and members and following the work and business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served. The new officers are:

Prophetess—Mary Hughett.

ALEXANDER
The annual Children's day program will be given at the M. E. church next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A program of special merit is being prepared for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Andrews and family of Ashland were calling on friends in Alexander Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George LaRue of Jacksonville spent Wednesday with friends in Alexander. John Reif, Jr., and Miss Mary Reif are spending a few days with their sister, Mrs. Howard Moss, in Modesto.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Wiley attended the funeral of Dewey Mutch in Jacksonville, Wednesday.

Mrs. J. T. Little has returned after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Carlson, in St. Louis.

PLANNED WORK WELL
The seventy-fifth anniversary of Phi Alpha society was without doubt one of the most successful and interesting gatherings that the society has ever held. Much of the success of the undertaking is due to Ralph I. Dunlap, chairman of the executive committee which had the arrangements in charge. Mr. Dunlap and his assistants began their preparations months in advance and the good work done was evidenced at the reunion.

IN TOKEN OF ESTEEM
Members of the faculty of the School for the Deaf recently presented Mr. C. Spruit with a traveling bag as a token of their esteem. The presentation speech was made by Mr. C. W. Taylor, one of the faculty. As already mentioned, Mr. Spruit is retiring from educational work after a long period of service. He has devoted himself to the work in an unreserved way and has made a record which will always be a credit to him. Mr. Spruit's time will be divided between Jacksonville and his farm near Old Mission, Mich.

PROBATE COURT
In the estate of Sarah Burge, petition to sell real estate to pay debts was allowed. W. E. Thompson was appointed guardian ad litem for minor heirs and petition approved.
In the estate of Joseph N. Smith, the inventory was approved.
In the estate of Manual Goveia, the inventory was approved.
In the estate of Ada Lambert, petition for letters of administration was allowed and letters ordered to issue to May Lambert.

AFTER MANY YEARS.
Ammon B. C. Gilliland of the vicinity of Florida is visiting friends and relatives in the city. The gentleman has been away from Jacksonville 34 years and of course sees many changes in the place. He is a veteran of the civil war and is now in the fruit business about twelve miles from Palm Beach.

PUBLISHERS WILL MAKE DISPLAYS HERE

Will be Shown in Basement of Central Christian Church—Wayne Gard Is Chairman of Display Room Committee.

An interesting feature of the state Sunday school convention to be held here next week will be the publishers' displays of Sunday school periodicals, books, and other supplies. These will be placed in the basement of the Central Christian church, in a large room adjoining the convention headquarters. Although the display room will be open to delegates and visitors throughout the convention, Thursday morning from 8:00 to 8:45 has been designated as a special time to visit the publishers' displays and educational exhibit.

Wayne Gard, chairman of the display room committee, stated Wednesday that the following publishers had reserved space for displays: The Practical Sunday School Supplies Company, Publishing House M. E. Church, South, William H. Ditz Company, David C. Cook Publishing Company, The Methodist Book Concern, The Pilgrim Press, American Baptist Publication Society, and The Standard Publishing Company.

The Illinois Sunday School Association is also preparing an exhibit of county maps, charts, and printed matter which will be an item of interest and profit to convention delegates.

OBITUARY.

Nettie Leona, daughter of Lewis and Mary Yeck, was born in Arenzville, Cass county, Ill., April 29, 1866, and died at her home in Concord, June 2, 1920. The family moved to Morgan county when she was small, and nearly all her life was spent in and near Concord. She was married October 27, 1885, to Aura C. Valentine at the home of her parents in Concord. Although they were denied and children of their own, they welcomed Irene Saffer, aged three years to their home and hearts. Only last April she was married, and will ever be influenced by the kindness shown her and by the Christian character of that Godly woman whom she was proud to call her mother.

Sister Valentine's heart was so big there was room for many others. If the many children who lived near her could write their gratitude for kindly deeds it would make a big book.

If the sick to whom she ministered were to write, it would make a long chapter. A friend to the friendless, a present help in time of trouble, she did what she could. Her church membership dates back to March, 1889.

During a meeting held in the old church by R. A. Omer, an evangelist, during the pastorate of G. T. Bridges, she made the "good confession," which she ever defended by precept and example. I have known very few people to make as great a sacrifice to attend church as she did during my two years pastorate in this church. She was at church last Sunday both morning and afternoon.

Mrs. Cantrell saw her there, and after a short conversation she said in her most hearty way: "Now, come and see me."

She loved to have her friends come to her home, and especially to have them eat with her. Last Monday she went with some friends to Chapin in an automobile. Wednesday she prepared dinner and ate heartily. Had everything prepared for the evening meal.

In the afternoon she went out into the garden where her husband was at work, and after a short stay she said "I am not feeling very well, so I will go in the house and rest." It was not long until she called and friends and the doctor were summoned, but in a few minutes all was over.

The father of the deceased died six years ago, and her brother, Charles, died 11 years ago. Those living are her husband, Irene, her mother, brothers, John P. Yeck, Harry W. Yeck and Glen Yeck, all of Concord, L. H. Yeck of Browning, Mrs. Mary J. Bayless, of Jacksonville. All are present today. She evidently had some premonition that the end might not be far off, for she said to her mother, "I love company, and when I pass away, and while my body is with you, I want you to have plenty of company, not just two or three and I want just ten roses placed on my grave. She was a lover of flowers, a lover of children, a lover of humanity. She loved the church and honored the Christ. She was especially concerned for the welfare of her mother. When she was suddenly slipping away from her loved ones her last words were, "Hold me tight, I am crossing over the river." She is gone from us but not forgotten. I am sure she has gone on to her reward.

THE FRUIT OUTLOOK IN GREENE COUNTY

Cherries Falling of Adequate Maturity—Heavy Rainfall in Southeastern Greene County Reported.

White Hall, June 8.—Cherries apparently are the only fruit that is falling of adequate maturity, over this section of the state. The trees were loaded off so heavily during the past week that comparatively little of the crop is left. The prospects are for the greatest peach crop in years, though this is not an important commercial product here, but is of very great importance in a local way. Apples are the greatest commercial product of this locality, and the prospects are good. Strawberries are being harvested and are retailing at 25 cents per box. When the crop first appeared a week ago the price was 30 cents per box. Grapes and raspberries are very hopeful crops.

Oats are rambling right along with pasture and meadows, and the ground intended for corn is practically three-fourths or better worked over this section. It is necessary to recede from our figure of 90 on the condition of winter wheat. The crop does not seem to recover from the evidences of the winter kill, and there are evidences of rust in some sections. Some of the wheat is turning out to be cheat and as a result a revision of the figure as to the condition of this crop in this section brings it down to 80.

The week has been favorable for the prosecution of farm work, there being half an inch rainfall on the evening of the 2nd, accompanied by one of the most wonderful electrical displays ever witnessed. A cloudburst during this storm in southeast Greene county, at Fayette, produced three inches of rain between 10 p. m. and 1 a. m. The heavy rain extended all along the southern end of Greene county, washing out a highway bridge over Macopin creek north of Rockbridge, and another highway bridge over Whitaker creek, east of Berdan, both iron structures. Some track and trestle work on the C. & A. between Daum and Greenfield were washed out.

REO has never been ambitious to make all the motor cars—only the best. From the first, the policy was to make only as many as could be made and be sure that every REO would be as good as the best REO that ever was turned out of the REO plants. That policy consistently adhered to through the many years has resulted in a demand always greater than the possible output of the big REO plants. MACON COUNTY FARM BUREAU PROSPERS

Organization Owns Fine Building in Business District of Decatur—Sydney Smith Is County Agent.

Morgan county farmers, who are identified with the farm bureau, would be interested in visiting the headquarters of the Morgan county bureau at Decatur. Sydney Smith, who was the leader in the organization of the bureau here in Jacksonville, is now the farm adviser in Macon county, and is carrying on a satisfactory work there.

The bureau has a membership of about 1,600. A spacious one-story building in the business district on one of the principal streets was purchased by the bureau recently for $28,000. The room was formerly used by an automobile dealer. The general dimensions are 60x80 feet, with spacious display windows on the two street sides. The front room has a tiled floor and the one in the rear used for sales purposes or for demonstrations with livestock, is concrete. There is a private room for extensive committee meetings and a large rest room.

Farmers and members of their families make this their general headquarters when they have occasion to stay in Decatur for a few hours' time. In addition to the two rooms mentioned, there is an extension about 15 feet wide and 80 feet long, reaching from the building to an alley passage. This is also concrete and on one side are pens where sheep or hogs may be kept in preparation for a sale or demonstration. Just now a considerable quantity of wool is on hand. The bureau officers are shipping this wool to a Chicago warehouse for storage. The wool is separated into grades and placed in sacks, showing the weight and name of the owner.

A news library on agricultural subjects is open to the inspection of the farmers and there are other facilities available. The arrangements are such that the purchase price of the building can be repaid in installments, which will run through about twenty years, or, if it is deemed advisable, a special financial plan can be outlined and the debt paid off at the close of any year. The building is so located and of such substantial type that it probably could be sold at any time for an amount equal to the original purchase price.

A better assortment of better styles of more comfortable fitting Straw Hats are shown by FRANK BYRNES Hat Store.

A VISITOR FROM KANSAS

Robert H. Smith of Redfield, Kan., returned home yesterday after attending Illinois commencement exercises. He is a Phi Alpha man and came for the seventy-fifth anniversary. Mr. Smith is a successful Kansas farmer who removed from this county several years ago.

Talking about crop conditions yesterday, he said that the season is much farther advanced in Kansas than here. The present prospects are good, although the wheat crop will probably not approach the record of some former years. Mr. Smith is hoping that the experience of last season will not be repeated, when on his farm and others in the same locality it was impossible to save more than half the grain. It was beaten down by wind and rain to such an extent that there was a half loss.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR DEWEY MUTCH

Impressive Rites Said at College Chapel — Funeral Largely Attended — Funeral Sermon by Dean F. S. Hayden.

Jones Memorial chapel was completely filled with relatives and friends Wednesday afternoon for the funeral services of Dewey Mutch, whose sad death occurred last Saturday afternoon. Practically the entire student body and members of the faculty attended the services. The sermon was preached by Dean F. S. Hayden, who had known the deceased intimately during his college career.

When the funeral party entered the chapel Mrs. Bullard was at the organ, after a hymn by a quartet composed by Robert V. Shoemaker, Henry Ifner, Homer Thompson, and Roger Carter, Dean Hayden read passages from the Psalms and Revelations of St. John.

Miss Doris Schuman then gave a solo and Dean Hayden delivered the funeral discourse. Dean Hayden prefaced his remarks by expressing the appreciation of the college that the family had consented to the holding of the services in the chapel. The deceased was in the class in Bible of Dr. Hayden and thus he had come to know him in an intimate way.

In his kindly manner the dean spoke of the questions and the fixed sorrow which is likely to follow the loss of our loved ones and of the consolation which may be ours, on the loss so unusual and tragic to the family, the college, and the friends.

"Why is it that the enjoyment of life and the happy career of youth should be suddenly cut off? But the pleasure which we are permitted to hope for Dewey in his Heavenly home is unlimited.

"And why too, should life immature and undeveloped, with education and incomplete, and growth in knowledge cut short? The consolation here is to be found in the belief that development after this life goes on, that the condition after death is not stagnant.

"And why on the very threshold of life, full of promise and ambition, should life be cut off and the opportunity denied? However, the achievements of this life are not recorded in years and material things, Dewey had already achieved in his twenty-two years of life a friendship, an example for others in his happy disposition, and an exhibition of lovely spirit."

(At the close of the sermon Dean Hayden offered prayer and the quartet sang, "Lead Kindly Light."

The funeral cortege then moved to Murrayville where brief funeral services were held at the grave in Murrayville cemetery where interment was made. These were in charge of the Rev. J. C. Bell, pastor of Murrayville M. E. church.

There were many beautiful floral offerings and these were cared for by Miss Iva Sheppard, Miss Theresa Longmire, Miss Hazel Ezard, Miss Margaret Strandberg, Miss Lucille Bennett and Miss Dorothy Chipchase.

The bearers were: John R. Wilson, Bernard Frazer, George Kennedy, Curtis Bradley, Byron Cully and J. R. Andrews.

The following obituary was read by Dean Hayden:

On a beautiful Sunday morning, June 5th, 1898, a baby boy was born near the village of Murrayville in a home where were already three sturdy sons. But this made the coming of the fourth son, no less of an event in the lives of the parents and it was with pride and love that the new baby was christened Dewey. There was a specific strain which ran thru the harmony of this home and that was the love of these sons for their mother, and as years were added to their lives, this affection deepened. When twin girls came to brighten this home and add their softening influence the circle became complete, but only one remained to become a vital factor in the life of Dewey, the other going on in a short time.

Dewey was a boy in every respect. Leading the life of the ordinary boy on the farm; going to the little country school for his first lessons. Entering into all the activities both of study and play. There was a characteristic of Dewey's which became manifest at an early age and became evident to all who knew him, even the teachers of his early youth, and as afterward to particularly mark him and become his most distinguished quality, and that was his quiet manner in applying what he knew. One never exactly knew when Dewey learned a thing, but he always met the requirements whether in his social life, athletic or school work.

He graduated on June 1st, 1917, from the Murrayville High school, and it was in his last year of high school that he received his vision of the future. Many seeds had been sown and fallen on fertile ground before this, but then was when the real awakening to his possibilities came and a vision of life was received by Dewey which isn't accepted by many young men. I say accepted, because Dewey wasn't a paragon; he had no particular mark of genius; he was just a sturdy healthy, well-bred boy, of ordinary opportunities and privileges, but when the vista of life, with its realities and unrealities was opened for him and he saw what could be beyond in the years, he instantly accepted the responsibilities and began to build his living upon that which would produce a structure which would bring honor, respect and endure thru the ages.

His first step after this awakening was to enter Illinois College in the fall of 1917, and from that day until the end of his earthly career he was the pattern of his ideals so distinctly into the fabric of his existence that one can easily distinguish it, incomplete that it is.

The boys and the coach, who have had the association of Dewey in his athletic career will feel the influence of that quiet application of the principles of life, honor, brotherly love and the adherence to the rules of team work exemplified on the track, in the foot ball and basket ball games played for the glory of Old Illinois; those who know him only in the class room can well remember long after the glamor has worn off of the victories won by our present athletes, and they have become only a matter of history, the courteous manner, the times that the standard of scholarship was up held, and again that quiet application of all that was while on the affairs of the college, by the fun loving boy, Dewey.

As stated before, there was a great love and comradeship existing between the boys and their mother, but as one by one they left the home to establish homes of their own and only Dewey and Alma were left, it seemed as if a closer relation was formed, than before.

The last day that Dewey was at home was particularly happy. The morning was spent with his mother and after helping her with the cleaning and heavier work, he insisted upon her sitting down and visiting. He went over his next year's work with her, and told all that he wished to accomplish; the studies he would take and how they would prepare him for his future work; he talked more of his career, of what he wanted to accomplish than he had ever before, perhaps it was of the day—his 22nd birthday—it may have been so that in the future only that which was full of hope and the joy of achieving would be associated with the memory of Dewey—what was the direct or indirect cause it has left with his mother something which will fill the years with sadness and comfort.

When the country was in need and the call came for student volunteers Dewey entered the military ranks of the college and put into the training that same quiet application found thru out his whole career.

The father of the boys has always been a boy with them. They worked together and played together. He always taught them to do well what they attempted, and much of Dewey's recognition of the benefits of team work was due to his early association with his father and brothers, Frank, Robert and Orville.

Many have been touched by the sisterly grief of Alma, who from babyhood has had Dewey for a pal. And altho her loss is keen, yet she has had in her experience a richness and joy which many girls have never known.

Dewey was also a member of the Phi Alpha. And as the future value of a student as a citizen can only be rated by their conduct in student activities, and the esteem in which they are held by their fellow students the fact that his brothers of the Phi Alpha have not left him or his family alone since the news of the accident foretells that near 4 o'clock on June the 5th, 1920, came an end to the career of one who had indeed chosen well those things which are eternal and altho cut off in the prime of youth, yet, will live on in the hearts and memories of those who knew him.

George Massey of Kansas City is a college commencement visitor, and while here is a guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. Henry B. Kamm. Mr. Massey has for a number of years, been a resident in Kansas City and is identified with one of the leading trade publications of that city.

Merle Reynolds has resumed his position in the Farmers' State Bank & Trust Company after a hospital experience of three weeks.

Mrs. Eugene Harlow of Kingman, Kan., is a guest at the home of her father, George S. Rogers, Lowwood place. Mrs. Harlow came at this time on account of the commencement exercises of Illinois college, her sister, Miss Dorothy Rogers, being one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rankin and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton J. Barber of Springfield drove to Jacksonville yesterday to attend the commencement exercises of Illinois college.

F. L. Sharpe is to leave today for Sterling to spend a few days. Dr. E. L. Crouch is one of Illinois college commencement visitors. He came here from Boston to be present when a degree was awarded his son, Joel Crouch.

I. C. TRUSTEES HELD TWO SESSIONS

Large Amount of Business Received Attention at Annual Meeting Wednesday — Three New Trustees.

Trustees of Illinois college held two sessions yesterday. Much of the business matters given attention appear in detail in the statement of President Raumelkamp. The non-resident trustees present were, J. F. Downing, Kansas City; Thomas Fansler, Philadelphia; H. J. Dunbaugh, Chicago; John J. Bergen, Virginia.

Action was taken increasing the tuition fee to $125 and setting aside $5 of each fee for an addition to the athletic fund. An increase in the rate for board and room at academy hall to $325 a year also was authorized.

It was decided to make some extended improvements in plumbing at the hall. Resolutions were adopted formally establishing the Rev. William Kirby, the George W. Moore and the Francis J. Riddle library funds.

A letter from the general educational board was read, confirming the telegraphic offer of an addition to the endowment fund and advances to make possible increase in salary of teachers. The board appointed President Raumelkamp, Dr. Carl E. Black and H. M. Capps as a committee for further conference with the board with reference to campaign details.

The resignation of W. T. Wilson as a trustee was accepted with regret and an appreciation of services rendered was made a part of the record.

The board also passed a resolution expressing appreciation for the services of Dr. Thomas W. Smith, who has been assistant in the financial campaign and who will conclude his work about July 1.

Increases in salaries of faculty members of approximately $10,000 were authorized. H. J. Dunbaugh of Chicago was re-elected as alumni trustee and the board found pleasure in the presence of the newly elected trustees, George W. Govett of Quincy, W. Barr Brown and Walter Bellatti of Jacksonville.

The president and secretary were directed to send a letter of sympathy to the family of Dewey Mutch, college student who was recently drowned in Morgan lake.

There are many causes for a POOR GOLF STROKE. A very common one is the ill fitting head covering worn. The GOLF CAPS and HATS sold by FRANK BYRNES might improve your game. Anyhow they are most comfortable.

IS PROMINENT ALUMNUS

One of the prominent alumni of Illinois college here for commencement exercises is Dr. Arthur D. Black of Chicago, who yesterday received the honorary degree of bachelor of science. Dr. Black is dean of the dental department of Northwestern university and has a country-wide reputation in the world of dentistry. He has written a number of text books and his work has been of a kind which makes it possible to term him the worthy successor of his father, Dr. Greene V. Black, known in his day as an international authority in dentistry.

CONFERRED HONORARY DEGREE

When honorary degrees were conferred at Illinois college yesterday Dean Hayden presented the candidates and spoke in an appropriate way of the work of each. Edward Clifford, who was given a degree of master of arts, graduated from the college in 1896, and subsequently from the St. Louis Law school. Dr. Hayden made special reference to his able service to the government in the war time.

William T. Harmon, who was also honored with the master of arts degree, graduated from the college in 1907. He was a captain in the service and refused advancement in order to have the opportunity for overseas service.

Rev. George C. Lenington, who was awarded the degree of doctor of divinity, graduated from the college in 1892. Prior to the war he was engaged in religious work in Mexico City and then entered the regular army as a chaplain.

Arthur D. Black, who was awarded the degree of doctor of science, was also a member of the class of 1892. Dr. Black has extensive research work to his credit and has followed other lines of activity which led to his selection for the special honor at the 1920 commencement.

ACROSS THE COUNTRY.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hendrickson of Newton, Conn., arrived in the city yesterday on their way to Kansas. They ride in a Ford Coupe and camp by the way and so far all has gone well. Mr. Hendrickson says he has traveled 1,600 miles without a mishap and has used 71 gallons of gasoline so far. He has generally found roads good.

GRADUATING CLASS IN CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Large Number Attended Exercises Which Were of Great Interest—Letters Awarded to Members of Athletic Teams.

Class day exercises attracted a good sized audience on College Hill yesterday morning and all who attended were well pleased with the bill presented by the graduating class of the college. The young people filed on the stage and took their seats with becoming dignity, after which Prof. Ames, class officer, announced the various numbers.

First came the class history, read by Edward Tomlinson, who showed himself a master in the art of humorously portaying the various experiences of the young gentlemen during the past four years.

Jasper Underwood read the class will, bequeathing to the bodies to follow during the coming years the various articles, real and imaginary, possessed by the graduates.

The class prophecy, by Miss Dorris Shuman, was a unique effort. The future experiences of the different members were told in a bright, racy manner, which pleased every one.

Robert Shoemaker disclosed to his friends that in addition to being a fine singer, he was also a poet of no mean order, as his production well indicated. His lines were very well written.

Prof. Ames then announced that Dean Hayden would distribute the class 's to the members of the various athletic teams. The gentleman said these things were dear to the college heart and would long be treasured. The number was not so large, but their fame was so great they deserved to be called planets, instead of stars. He feelingly referred to the absence of Dewey Mutch, and told of a recent visit of sympathy he had paid the family. Dewey was found among the planets and his absence was a source of sorrow.

In the football contest sweaters were awarded the following: The basket ball 's went to Tomlinson, Barnes, Cully, Manager Andrew Mellen, Davis and Antrobus.

The track team were Captain Cully, Tomlinson, Andrew, Shuman, Farrell, Smith, Crouse, Mellen, Fierke, Ellison and Fielding, manager.

Cross country runs were Shoemaker, Hatfield and Henry Smith.

The dean spoke of the general interest in athletics, which he was glad to see, and paid a fine compliment to Coach Harmon, whose illness prevented his presence today.

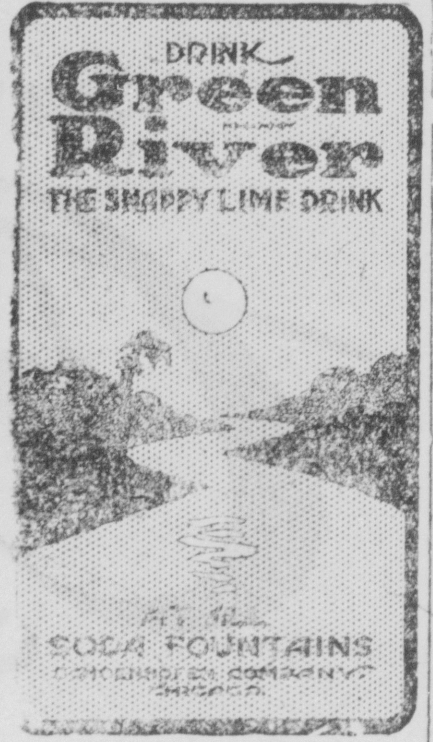

The class song, by the members entitled, "Where, Oh Where," closed the exercises.

PROMINENT YOUNG FRANKLIN COUPLE WED

Miss Loretta Bergschneider Becomes Bride of William J. McCarty—Will Make Extended Visit in West.

Franklin, June 8.—A simple and very pretty wedding took place at the Sacred Heart church, Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock when Miss Loretta Bergschneider became the bride of William J. McCarty of Jacksonville. The nuptial mass was read by Rev. Fr. Smith, with Robert Walsh and Raymond Shanley, cousins of the bride as servers. Carl Bergschneider and Miss Agnes Bergschneider, brother and sister of the bride were the attendants. Mrs. Morris Walsh played the wedding march, and Mrs. Chas. Ryan sang in a pleasing manner, Willard's "Ave Maria." The bride was attired in a beautiful dress of midnight blue silk mignonette, richly embroidered in chenille and jet, and wore a hat to match. The bridesmaid wore a dress of pink blue georgette with hat to match.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. G. Bergschneider of Franklin. She attended the Franklin high school and later graduated at Rount College, Jacksonville in the class of 1914. She was also a student of music at the Illinois Woman's College and for the past five years has been organist at the Sacred Heart church, Franklin. For several years she has been one of Morgan county's most successful school teachers. She is a young lady of much personal charm and has endeared herself to a large circle of friends.

The groom is the son of the late William McCarty of Franklin. He received his education in the public schools and later attended Notre Dame University of Indiana. He then went west and resided in Butte, Montana, but returned a year ago to look after business interests here, being one of the most extensive land owners in the county. After the ceremony a delicious four course wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives, at the home of the bride's parents. They immediately departed on the 8:30 train from Jacksonville for Chicago for an extended trip throughout the west, their main points of interest being Butte, Mont., Yellowstone Park, Salt Lake City, California and Denver. They expect to be gone several months and on their return will live in Springfield.

Daily Market Report

STOCK MARKET REACTS SHARPLY

NEW YORK, June 9.—Stocks firm at the outset of today's listless session reacted sharply, especially in the railway division, before noon, and moved forward again, later, when steels, equipments, oils and textiles became the special objects of bullish attention.

The weakness of rails was ascribed to yesterday's cut in the dividends on Chicago and Northwestern common and preferred. Shorts seemed to regard this as a prelude to similar action in other investment transportations.

Stocks in which a large short interest is believed to exist, were foremost in the closing hours, rails making little recovery. Sales amounted to 350,000 shares.

The money market pursued its recent tortuous course, call loans opening at 7 per cent, rising to 9 at mid-day, and falling back to 8 at the close. Time loans for small amounts, and mainly for short maturities, were made at prevailing rates, but little paper changed hands.

Conditions affecting foreign exchange were not materially altered.

93%, although the general list, in the bond market, Anglo-French fives made a new high including liberty issues, were irregular. On call, Old U. S.'s were down 1/4 and old 4's 1/2 per cent.

CAR STORAGE

Convenient, dry and safe—that is what we have provided in the remodeling of our big building. In the old days of the horse-drawn vehicles large space was required, and it had to be convenient, dry and safe. In that respect there has not been a great deal of change except that vehicles now move under their own power.

We have provided "live" and "dead" storage—storage for the automobile that is not to be used for a period of time, and for the car that is likely to be used at any moment.

In addition to cars being kept in a dry and safe place, the convenience of the location, its accessibility, is to be considered.

We are but one block from the square, on North Main street. Drive in and park your car and go about your business without thought or worry. Car washing a specialty.

DOCTORS FAVOR NEW TASTELESS CASTOR OIL

New Process Makes Castor Oil Absolutely Tasteless

Doctors have always prescribed castor oil when a real laxative is needed, and all mothers know how much trouble it is to get children to take it. There need be no more trouble, for doctors are now recommending Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, from which absolutely all nauseating taste has been removed. Children take it readily. They need not even know it is castor oil. This splendid new form of the good old family remedy is the result of a remarkable process perfected by the chemists of Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc. In strength and purity Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is exactly the same as the old-fashioned disagreeable kind. Nothing has been removed but the taste. Do not accept substitutes, if you want a really tasteless castor oil. At all good druggists. Two sizes, 5c and 65c.—Adv.

Annual Report of President of Illinois College

Illinois College is closing her ninety-first year. Hardly a year in that long and honorable history has been without some distinctive characteristic, and while we may not know how the present year may be viewed through the perspective of a future century, it seems certain that it will be known as a year when financial and economic needs loomed large. With this preliminary suggestion regarding its predominating characteristic, I invite your attention to the events of the year and our plans for the future.

TRUSTEES.

Since our last annual meeting death has claimed one of the honored members of our Board of Trustees—Hugh M. Wilson. An alumnus of Illinois College of the class of '87, Mr. Wilson was one of her most successful and loyal sons and for fourteen years served the College as a devoted and efficient trustee. Except during the years when illness interfered, he was a regular attendant at our annual meetings and his good business judgment, his willingness to work and generosity helped us to solve many of our difficult problems. I wish to place on record my deep personal obligation to him. I came to know Mr. Wilson as an intimate friend and during the trying early years of my presidency of the College, when the skies were often dark, his cheerful and helpful spirit were always a great encouragement. His enthusiastic loyalty was contagious and a conference with him always made one feel that any difficult task could be accomplished.

We regret to lose, by resignation from our Board, the services of William T. Wilson. I am glad, however, to assure the alumni and friends of the College that the resignation of Mr. Wilson means no diminution of his interest in his alma mater. To fill vacancies existing in its membership, the Board elected at the recent annual meeting, William Barr Brown and Walter Bellati of Jacksonville and George H. Govett of Quincy, three men who will bring to the service of the College strong ability, good judgment and enthusiastic loyalty. We also rejoice that the alumni have seen fit to return as one of their special representatives on the Board of Trustees, Harry J. Dunbaugh of Chicago.

COLLEGE FACULTY AND WORK OF INSTRUCTION.

The War and other circumstances led to many changes on our instructing staff at the beginning of the present academic year. In fact about one half of our faculty were new members. Fortunately most of them were not new to college work, but came to us after some years of successful experience in other institutions. Therefore, in spite of the presence among us of a rather large proportion of instructors unfamiliar with the traditions of the College, there has been no break in the continuity of our work, and certainly no lowering of the ideals of scholarship that have always been our pride. Since most of these new faculty members were named in the report of last year, I do not stop to name them again, but I wish now in their presence to assure them of a warm welcome to our College family and to place on record our appreciation of the services which they are rendering to this College. Nor would I overlook the loyalty and devoted service of the older members, some of whom have been with us these many years. In that connection I would especially mention Dr. F. S. Hayden, our honored and beloved Dean. In order that he may be relieved of pressing administrative duties, performed so graciously and well for the last seventeen years, but which are now taxing his strength, the Trustees have appointed Dr. Hayden, Dean Emeritus and have also, at his own request, made some rearrangement of his teaching schedule. Students of the present and past generations will rejoice to know that one with such fine qualities as a scholar, a teacher and Christian gentleman will continue to serve the College. The Trustees have appointed Professor George H. Scott, the new head of our Department of Mathematics and Physics, to succeed Dr. Hayden as active Dean of the College. With a large and successful administrative experience at both Yankton and Doane Colleges and with a sincere interest in the welfare of young people, Professor Scott will, I am sure, justify our high hopes of his success in this office. Professor J. G. Ames, after serving the government in an important capacity in its Thrift Campaign, has, we are happy to say, resumed his duties on the faculty. Miss Hilda M. Raetzmann has been promoted to a full professorship of modern languages. A leave of absence for next year has been granted to Assistant Professor Geo. R. Poage, who is planning to complete his studies for the doctor's degree; and Mr. Bryce G. Whisler, to our regret, has declined a reappointment to the instructorship in mathematics and physics because he desired to devote himself to another line of work. Miss Lois Daniels a graduate of Illinois College in the class of 1918 has been appointed to the instructorship in mathematics and physics in addition to her work at Illinois College. Miss Daniels has taken her master's degree in mathematics and physics at the University of Illinois and has had a year of teaching experience.

I insert the statistics showing the preference of students in the selection of their major studies and the registration in the different departments. The figures represent the average for the two semesters:

Majors.		Department Registration.
Chemistry	25.5	English	179.5
Modern Languages	21.5	Modern Languages	135
Mathematics	17.5	Bible	107.5
English	13.5	History and Social Science	104.5
History and Social Science	12.5	Mathematics	97.5
Biology	11	Chemistry	91.5
Classics	9	Classics	48.5
		Biology	38
		Education	33.5
		Philosophy	32
		Art and Archaeology	22

COLLEGE LIBRARY.

Some substantial progress has been made during the year in the establishment of special endowment funds for the College Library. Mrs. Helen M. Dwight of New York has established in memory of her father The Reverend William Kirby, a memorial fund of $2000 for the purchase of books in the field of Biblical Literature and Philosophy. This memorial will perpetuate in a most useful and appropriate manner the memory of one of the honored founders of the College. Miss Eleanor I. Moore of Jacksonville is establishing the George W. Moore Memorial of $2000, in memory of her father for the purchase of books in the field of history. This memorial in memory of a highly respected alumnus of the class of 1856 is intended to be a testimony to his patriotism manifested so amply by his honorable service in the Civil War and to his loyalty to his alma mater. Mrs. Sarah G. Riddle of Jacksonville, in addition to founding a scholarship in memory of her father The Reverend William Green Gallagher, is also establishing a Memorial Library Fund of $1000, in memory of her late husband, Francis A. Riddle, another former student of the College who rendered distinguished service to his country during the Civil War. Mr. Riddle was a lover of books, who accumulated during his life time a valuable private library, and the establishment of a library fund in his memory is, therefore, most appropriate. Donations of books and other valuable material have been received from various friends, especially noteworthy among these being 177 volumes donated by Mrs. Riddle and a marble bust of the late Edward P. Kirby, '54, donated by Mrs. Kirby.

The librarian reports 554 accessions to the library. The establishment of these various funds, the accessions by gift and purchase, and the increasing use of the library by a larger body of students create a greater need than ever for a new library building. May the time be not far distant when some good friend, anxious to do something worth while for the cause of education, will supply this urgent need of the College.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

As usual, we can make a favorable report regarding the year's work in the Conservatory of Music. The department under the efficient direction of Professor Kritch and his able colleagues, attracts every year an increasing number of students. This year the registration is the largest since the Conservatory was merged with the College in 1903. Announcement was made last winter of the gift of a pipe organ to the Conservatory by Mrs. I. W. Blatchford of Chicago. This organ, of fine quality and ample size and equipment for instruction purposes, was housed for many years in the Blatchford home in Chicago. Plans have been made to install the instrument in the recital hall during the summer and by resolution of the Board, it will be named the Elphaleht W. Blatchford Memorial Organ in honor of the distinguished alumnus in whose memory it has been given.

Charles H. Keep, appointed instructor in voice at the beginning of the present year, has resigned his position in order to accept a call to a position as Assistant Director in another school. So far as known at present, this is the only change that will occur on the Conservatory faculty.

WHIPPLE ACADEMY.

According to the policy adopted by the Trustees four years ago, the preparatory department will be discontinued after the present academic year. Opportunity will still be offered to students deficient in entrance requirements to make up these deficiencies in a limited number of subjects, and, of course, Whipple Hall will be maintained as a permanent memorial to our generous benefactor, Dr. Samuel L. Whipple.

ACADEMY HALL.

Conditions at Academy Hall reflect the general progress of the College during the past year. More girls have been in residence there than in any previous year. However, on account of the constantly increasing cost of provisions and the failure proportionally to increase the rates, the financial results in this department are not so encouraging. The Academy Hall account will show a deficit at the end of the year.

STUDENTS.

The statistics of attendance show that Illinois College like nearly all other colleges and universities of the country has had a larger body of students than in any previous year, except 1918-19 when the Student Army Training Corps abnormally swelled the attendance. The attendance in the College department is 196 as compared with 191 in 1916-17, our previous largest attendance, the total attendance in all departments is 484 as compared with 436 in 1917-18. We have every reason to expect a still further increase in College attendance next year. Although the total attendance figures may be somewhat affected by the discontinuance of the preparatory department.

Student organizations of all kinds have resumed their normal activities. The men's library societies, which seemed to languish during the war and immediately after, have again become very active; the debates of the year included, in addition to the "joint debate", intercollegiate debates with Monmouth, Augustana, Carthage and Knox. I hope these societies may always be kept true to the ideals and traditions which have given them such an enviable record in the history of the College. Active and alumni members should both exert themselves to encourage a wholesome good fellowship. During the year, Agora, a third girls' society was organized, with its main object the cultivation of a higher regard for scholarship and of a broader spirit of democracy among the girls. We wish the new society God-speed and assure it of our hearty cooperation in achieving its high and praiseworthy purpose.

In order to arouse a greater interest in scholarship on the part of the student literary societies the faculty proposes to publish at the end of each semester the relative ranking of these societies in the grades of the semester. The following was the ranking at the end of the first semester of the present year:

Agora	84.74%
Sigma Phi Epsilon	84.72%
Phi Alpha	80.95%
Sigma Pi	80.31%
Gamma Delta	79.4%
Non-society Women	78%
Non-society Men	74%

The return to the faculty of Coach W. T. Harmon has meant much to the athletics activities of the year. Not only were strong teams developed in various branches of sport, but the fine enthusiasm and loyalty of earlier years were at once restored. The Illinois College Interscholastic Meet of this spring was the largest and most successful yet held. Forty-four high schools entered the meet and in addition to the athletic events, contests were also held in declamation, oratory, piano, voice and violin. This "Interscholastic", probably the largest in the state, outside of those conducted by the three universities, is of great aid in bringing the College to the attention of the high schools of the state.

The student Christian Associations have also shown commendable activity. The Men's Association sent six delegates to the Geneva Conference last summer, the largest delegation ever sent, and it seems likely that both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will again be well represented at the Geneva Conferences of this summer.

Both a boys' and a girls' Glee Club were organized during the last year, and it is to be hoped that these organizations can be still further developed next year. The two clubs in cooperation with the Conservatory Chorus gave a very successful performance of the Mikado. Nor in this enumeration of student activities would I forget the presentation of a couple of plays by the Dramatic Club.

THE ALUMNI.

The alumni and former students of the College manifest a constantly increasing interest in the College. The endowment campaign has, of course, furnished an opportunity for a renewed demonstration of their devotion to their alma mater, and they are meeting the situation in a way that should afford great encouragement to all friends of the institution. The Alumni Fund continues to prosper and to win an increasing support from those who have studied at "Old Illinois". Professor Edward Capps, having returned from his important mission to Greece, has resumed his duties as Chairman of the Fund. The annual report issued for 1918-19 shows a total membership of over 500, and total subscriptions for the year of $4,117. The Alumni Fund Endowment recorded on our books now totals $13,500. During the eight years of its existence, the Alumni Fund Association has, in addition, contributed $2,453 to other college endowment funds and $5,948 to the expense fund. A simple statement of these figures amply demonstrates our obligation to the officers and members of this Association.

The various alumni associations of the country, now that the interference of the War has ceased, have all held their annual meetings, and I am glad to report the organization of a new society in Quincy, Illinois, with George W. Govett, '95, as its first president.

The following deaths of alumni and former students have been reported since our last annual meeting:

Alumni.	Former Students.

IMPROVEMENTS AND CHANGES IN PLANT.

In accordance with the resolution of the Board and with the approval of the Committee of the Jacksonville Female Academy alumnae, "The Cabinet", a fine collection of museum specimens formerly housed at Academy Hall, has been transferred to the large room on the second floor of Whipple Hall. To this collection have also been added other specimens belonging to the College and heretofore scattered in various rooms about the campus. The new museum was formally opened last April, the exercises consisting a brief address by Mrs. Truman P. Carter representing the Alumnae of the Academy and a popular scientific lecture by Professor H. C. Cowles of the University of Chicago. The new arrangement will make the specimens much more accessible to the students for instruction purposes, and represents in every way a decided improvement over former conditions.

Another greatly appreciated improvement is the addition to the Club House, which, with the installation of a new heating system and new plumbing, cost about $3310, this amount having been paid out of the Emergency Reserve Fund.

FINANCES.

For the first time in nine years the College has a deficit in the account of the year. Fortunately this deficit amounting to $4032 could at once be met by an appropriation from the Emergency Reserve Fund so that the College year is closed without any indebtedness. It is, of course, not surprising that expenditures exceeded income during the current year; when one reads of the deficits which most colleges and universities are facing, the surprising fact is that our own financial year came out so well. The deficit was caused partly by the bonus in salary voted to members of the faculty and the cost of improvements to the College plant. I believe I ought to point out to all who may be interested that the liquidation of the deficit of the current year and the cost of a few improvements to the plant have entirely exhausted the small surplus accumulated by the economical management of the past few years.

Substantial progress has been made during the year in increasing the resources of the College. As a result of the payment of the Hiram K. Jones bequest to the College and the payment of subscriptions to our new fund, the endowment has increased to the extent of $43,000. Several thousand dollars more have been added during the last few days by the payment of subscriptions. In view of the pressing needs of the next year, it will be of great advantage if friends will be as prompt as possible in paying their subscriptions so that the trustees may at once invest the funds and secure the income for the College. With the usual estimate of about $200,000 as the value of the Williams Scholarship Fund, the College now has an endowment amounting to $994,165. In other words, the resources of the College now amount to practically a million dollars. Under normal conditions, this increase in resources would mean considerable progress in the affairs of the College, but as economic conditions now are, the increase in endowment is of course, far from sufficient to enable us to meet even the most pressing needs of the institution. To help meet the financial situation, the trustees have felt obliged to increase the tuition next year to $125.

FACULTY SALARIES.

The most pressing phase of the financial situation is, of course, the problem of faculty salaries. It certainly requires no argument to convince friends of the College that we must exert ourselves to the utmost to provide a living wage for our professors. If the self respect of our faculty is to be maintained, if the dignity of the College before the community is to be upheld, and if we are to continue to command the services of instructors who are worthy teachers of our children, there must be a substantial increase in faculty salaries. When we realize the discouraging financial condition under which members of the faculty have been obliged to work during the past few years, we doubly appreciate their loyalty to the College and their devotion to their work. Men and women less devoted to their life work would not have remained at the post of duty during these trying months. Members of the faculty and friends may be sure that no question has received more extended and earnest attention from the Trustees than this problem of faculty salaries. Fortunately the annual grant of $6250 for two years from the General Education Board will help materially in solving this problem. The budget presented to the trustees calls for an increase of over $10,000 in the salary account of next year, but even that amount will not enable the College to do full justice to all. There are others as well as faculty members for whose financial needs the College must provide and we must remember that the whole cost of operating the College plant has greatly increased. The Trustees are endeavoring to meet the emergency to the extent of their ability and in accordance with their best judgment. I believe I ought to say frankly that it is the sincere judgment of the Trustees that until more adequate funds are at hand, some account should be taken of the greater financial needs of men with families to support and therefore until adequate remuneration can be paid to all, some distinction will be made between the salaries of married and single members of the faculty.

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS.

To date a net total of about $252,000 has been subscribed toward our new endowment and building fund of $500,000. This includes the subscription of $25,000 recently made by the General Education Board of New York and also a subscription of $5000, announced this morning from a member of the class of '91—Bertel M. Stoddard of Sloan, Iowa. A few further facts and statistics regarding the endowment campaign will doubtless be of interest. Over 1000 persons have thus far subscribed to the fund. The three College classes which to date have made the largest subscriptions are:

'91	$8,885
'82	4,160
'79	3,465

Of course one does not mean to imply that these classes have necessarily made the greatest sacrifices for their alma mater, for there are some classes whose smaller subscriptions may represent even a greater sacrifice.

The following table presents further interesting facts:

325 Alumni and Former Students	$7,083.00
488 Friends	34,993.00
161 Present Students and Faculty	7,140.00
24 Alumnae of the Athenaeum	3,710.00
22 Alumnae of the Jacksonville F. A.	3,540.00
18 Alumnae of the Conservatory	405.00
General Education Board	125,000.00
Net Total	$251,871.00

I am sure we have reason to feel encouraged over the progress which the Campaign has thus far made. Over one half of our total amount has now been secured. Aside from the substantial assistance which the General Education Board has given, its grant means an endorsement of the College and the campaign, which should prove of great aid to our cause. Its appropriation helps us to demonstrate still more forcibly that Illinois College is an institution essential to the educational system of the country and worthy of the support of all generous friends of education. No time limit has yet been set by the Trustees for the completion of our campaign, but I feel that every effort should be made to complete our fund within the next college year. It is evident that the ultimate success of the campaign depends upon securing at least a few more substantial subscriptions; the final goal cannot be reached solely by the path of a large number of small subscriptions. A few friends and alumni must get a large vision of the need and the opportunity of doing a great service for the College and the cause of Christian education. We are especially anxious that some generous friend should give the $60,000 necessary to found a memorial professorship and another friend, the $125,000 necessary to build the new library. I know that some people are seriously thinking of making a really sacrificial gift to Illinois College, and I pray God that they may come to a decision which will be a great investment for them and a great benefit to hundreds and thousands of young people in the years of the future. We feel grateful to the thousand friends who have already extended a helping hand in this great cause, and we believe that their confidence in the College and their example will inspire another thousand to march forward during the next year. We have succeeded heretofore in what we have undertaken, and with God's help we will succeed now.
